BREED THEATER. Victim of Hate, Brilliant Feature

fortable weather of yester-The comfortable weather of yester-day and last evening served to bring out a large and representative audience at the Breed theater to witness the unusually fine bill of high grade motion pictures. One of the chief attractions was the stirring society story picture entitled A Victim of Hate, a clever story of a rejected suitor who attempts to blackmail the young lady who has refused his offer of marriage and the young man to whom she is picture entitled A Victim of Hate, a clever story of a rejected suitor who attempts to blackmail the young lady who has refused his offer of marriage and the young man to whom she is engaged. To accomplish this he decoys each of them into a gambling joint and presents them to each other, creating the impression that they are habitues of the place. A separation between them is precipitated, but the remorse of the rejected lover is too great and he acknowledges planning the affair and goes to the parties with humble apologies and succeeds in bringing them together.

Pratt & Cady Company, of Hartferd, Describes Experience With Union Labor.

The Pratt & Cady Co. has issued a statement to all who are interested in the moulders and coremakers' strike situation at their factory. The company describes its experience with union labor as follows:

the characteristic part of the painting, being as important as the face, and that there would be no use of introducing the hands, if they did not mean a great deal. He seemed quite satisfied with the results obtained with the bands in this case.

"I never could have achieved the result without the death mask from which the portrait was largely painted, the head almost entirely," he said. He had great difficulty in getting the color of the eyes, the hair, and other features correct, as he had seen the man but once in his life. At that time, he saw him rise from a chair by a table with a book in his hands, just on the point of smiling, and from the vivid impression which the artist received of Mr. Lilley in that one action he drew much of the inspiration and suggestion for the portrait.

Mr. Flagg doesn't like the location of the pleture at all. It is in a very bad light, but must hang in that place to be in order. I hope the new memorial library will soon be completed," he said emphatically.

Rev. Joseph Desaulniers, Pastor in Bridgeport for 11 Years, Sucçumbs to Cancer.

News was received in Bridgeport Friday of the death at the home of his parents in Nicolet, Canada, of Rev. Joseph Desaulniers, formerly pastor, of St. Authony's French Roman Cathollic church in Colorado avenue, and expressions of sorrow were general, not only from members of his own parish, but from citizens of Bridgeport in general, who had learned to respect and love the clergyman during his 11 years' residence in this city. Death came after a lingering and painful illness from cancer of the stomach with which he was afflicted when he left this cety last October. Although an operation was performed it did not give relief and the laevitable, end was awaited with the patience and Christian fortitude which has characterized his whole life.

While Father Desaulniers was particularly beloved by the members of his own flock of St. Anthony's, he belonged to the whole city and his death casts a gloom upon all, Catholic and non-Catholic alike. A true Christian, a courteous gentleman, with a kind word or a kind deed for the one in distress he had filled a place in the hearts of the people which will be hard to replace.

Father Desaulniers came to Eridge-Did it ever occur to you that the reason recovered and came back to Bridge port at Christmas time, but was again obliged to relinquish his charge.

He went back to his home and gradually failed until the end came Wednesday evening. At his bedside at the time of his death were his aged parents, and his cousin. Hom, Aram Pothier governor of Rhode Island, and Mrs. Pothier. None but the immediate members of his family knew that his illness had reached such a critical stage.

The above and foregoing is a true copy of record.

Will be missed when he's gone, and if one's heart shall ache
Because he's not here. Yes, if only one mourn.
The world is the better for his having been born.

He has made a success of this life if
the end
Finds him tenderly borne to the grave
by a friend;
If, but one man shall say; "He was
gentle and true,
His voice was a voice that I off lisiened to,
I shall miss him," and, weeping, shall
dura from his door;
He has made a success, for no man can do more.

Success, when you sum it all up, lan't Nor is it in doing some deed that is bold;
For the money we make and the houses we build
Mean nothing the moment our yoles has been stilled;
But he has succeeded, who, when he is gone. in the heart of another is still living -Detroit Free Press.
